PROFILE

I am a passionate junior full stack developer, love to create cool things and interested in improving user's experience.

I started learning programming by myself while working, then I got an IT diploma with web focus. Now I am a full time uni student, I wish to dip further in development.

I am seeking for an internship opportunity, or part-time work allows me to work with experienced professionals. I see myself as a life time learner, I deeply believe learning will lead me to a better human being.
